

SUPPORTING ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS IN AN INCLUSIVE CLASSROOM

CONNECTING STUDENTS TO THEIR FUTURE

Friday, February 23, 2018

As the population of English Language Learners (ELLs) continues to increase in classrooms, teachers need to be culturally proficient and inclusive. How prepared are you to teach ELLs? Join Lori Nelson, Elizabeth Webber, and Pamela Gurney as they facilitate a session on supporting ELLs. This session can benefit K-12 classroom teachers and LARTs. Participants will:

- understand more about ELL Standards
- explore and share best practices in reading, writing, speaking, and listening
- obtain practical suggestions and strategies within a UDL framework
- ask questions and collaborate with colleagues
